

HEAR WEBSTER CASE IN APRIL

Justice Nichols Adjourns Term on Account of Illness of Principal Witness—Jury is Held.

The action brought by M. F. Webster, as administrator, against the Kingston Consolidated Railroad Company and another, to recover damages for the death of Grove Webster, Jr., on March 4, 1918, when a trolley car was struck by a West Shore train at the Broadway crossing and Mr. Webster killed, has not been put over the term of supreme court now in session at the court house before Justice Nichols.

After considerable debate on the part of the attorneys in the case, Justice Nichols agreed that on account of the illness of one of the principal witnesses, the case would not be heard at this time but that he would adjourn this term of court until either the first or second Monday in April, when he would return to the city and try the case. By that time the health of the witness should be improved and the case could be tried. Whether the first or second Monday of April will be selected will be made known at the conclusion of the present session of court and an adjournment taken until that time, the present jurors being kept over until the adjourned date.

Van Etten & Cook appear for the plaintiff and William D. Brunner, Sr. and Amos Van Etten for the defendant companies.

ANNUAL AUTO CLUB MEETING

Monday Evening Will Also be Membership Meeting of Chamber of Commerce—Speaker on Income Tax Law.

The Automobile Club of Ulster county, through its president, W. R. Bennett, and its secretary, Dr. Meinhardt, has invited the Chamber of Commerce to attend the annual meeting of the Automobile Club, which will be held in the Y. M. C. A. building at 8 o'clock Monday evening, December 8.

The Chamber of Commerce has accepted this invitation and will make this meeting of the Automobile Club the next membership gathering of its own members in place of a separate December membership meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

The Automobile Club has secured from the state comptroller's office a speaker on a topic of most urgent and pressing interest—the new income tax law of New York state.

In addition to the privilege of hearing this interesting and timely explanation of the state income tax law, the members of the Chamber of Commerce will be especially interested in this opportunity for good fellowship with the members of the Automobile Club, which is doing so much solid, substantial work in behalf of better roads, road signs, traffic information, welcome of tourists, etc.

Many of the members of the Chamber of Commerce are members of the Automobile Club and vice versa. There will be many opportunities during the coming year for the two organizations to work hand in hand for Ulster county.

The officers of the Chamber of Commerce expect that a large number of the Chamber's members will be on hand Monday evening for the membership meeting as guests of the Automobile Club.

JURY GIVES BONESTEEL $800

In Auto Damage Action—Hentschel Case, To Jury, Involves Commission on Sale of Wilbur Property Whose Price Increased as Buyers Appeared.

The first case to be taken up Tuesday afternoon before Justice Nichols and a jury in supreme court was the action brought by Peter L. Bonesteel against Pearl Frankie, an undefended action brought by the plaintiff for the amount of damage to his Reo automobile which was wrecked in July 1918 at the turn in the road on the Stony Hollow hill by the defendant's car.

The testimony of Mr. Bonesteel was to the effect that while bound westward on the day in question he was traveling at a slow rate of speed in low gear and had just reached the sharp turn just below the Ulster and Delaware viaduct when the defendant's automobile, a big MacFarland, came down the hill and around the turn at a high rate of speed turned to the left of the road and crashed into his machine. The machines were both wrecked but no one was injured. All of the passengers in the MacFarland car jumped into passing machines and resumed their trip to Kingston. The defendant, who was the owner of the machine which struck Mr. Bonesteel, stated that they were in a hurry to get to Kingston and told him that he could have their machine. Mr. Bonesteel did not take the machine and the defendant caused it to later be removed.

Edgar L. Mower, superintendent at Kennedy's Central Garage on Broadway testified that he has removed the wrecked Reo to his garage and repaired it. The machine was worth $1,000 before the accident and after $300 had been spent in repairs it was worth about $500. Before being repaired it was worth $200.

After being out about 15 minutes the jury returned with a verdict of $800 for the plaintiff, the full amount asked. Mayor Canfield appeared for Mr. Bonesteel.

The next case taken up was the action brought by P. Berman and another against Martha A. Hentschel to recover commission on property sold. Judge Van Etten of Van Etten & Cook appeared for the plaintiff and William D. Brunner of Brunner & Brunner appeared for Miss Hentschel.

The action is brought to recover for commission for selling the real estate property, known as the old Sweeney property in Wilbur, which has caused excitement before, was given by Miss Hentschel some time ago to be used as a home or sanitarium for sick shirt waist factory girls of New York city. At the time there was considerable publicity in the papers over the gift but the property remained in the hands of Miss Hentschel, being sold finally to a Jewish Rabbi for $10,000. It is the outcome of the sale which again brings the property before the public.

The question is whether Miss Hentschel promised to pay the real estate dealer the $1,000 commission which they are suing for or only the regular 2 1/2% commission. The property was placed in the hands of a man named Goldwasser, who deals in real estate, he being the agent for a New York firm of real estate dealers. It is the New York firm that is suing for the commission of $1,000. Goldwasser having been offered the commission of $250 by the defendant at the time the sale was made but refused to take it. The defendant claims the $250 is all that they should pay and will pay that sum to Goldwasser when the action for $1,000 now pending is settled. Miss Hentschel claims that she was dealing with Goldwasser and not with any New York firm and did not know that they had listed the property.

The plaintiff claims that Miss Hentschel did know that the buyers who were brought to look at the house were brought by them and that it was through them that the sale was finally made.

Miss Hentschel first offered the property at $6,500 and a buyer was secured who offered $5,000 but she wanted $6,500. Finally a buyer was brought who offered $6,500 but then the plaintiff claims she asked $5,000. Then came the present owner who was satisfied with the property, but when Miss Hentschel found that the property satisfied him, the plaintiff claims she raised her price to $10,000, which he agreed to pay. He gave her $2,000 cash and a mortgage for $8,000.

It was during these advances that the agents asked for more commission if they sold the property. When the price went up to $8,000 they claim they asked for a commission of $500 and she agreed to pay it. Then when they found she wanted $10,000 they asked her for $1,000, and she agreed, they say, to this. However, when the property was sold she offered the usual commission of 2 1/2% of $250, which was refused. The present action is the outcome.

Whether the offer was made or whether the agent took the property for sale on the regular commission will be decided by the jury today. The testimony was completed Tuesday evening and the case was summarized up this morning at the opening of court and submitted to the jury.

TO PROBE BOARD OF ELECTIONS

Supervisor Conklin's Resolution Adopted—County Sealer's Report Very Satisfactory—Committee Reports and County Auditors—Annual Report of Tuberculosis Hospital.

Indications are that the board of supervisors will complete their regular session on Saturday, and that a recess will then be taken until December 15, when the tax rolls will be ready for signing by the chairman and clerk of the board. The standing committees got down to business Monday and Tuesday, and Clerk DeWitt has laid out the work for the committeemen for the balance of the week. He announced just before the close of the session Tuesday evening that the committee on appropriations should be ready to meet on Friday evening at the close of the meeting, which means the wind-up of the regular work. An adjourned session, as it is usual, will be held during the week of December 15.

County Auditors Report Balance.

Committee reports were the feature of the session Tuesday evening, and it may be interesting to the taxpayers to know that the committee on supplies, or county auditors, reported a balance on hand after old H. C. L. has been prancing around the past year. As investigations seem to be popular by congress, the state legislature, and other legislative bodies, the county legislature is going to be in line, as on motion of Supervisor Conklin the committee on commissioners of election were empowered to investigate the management and control of the office of the board of elections.

Committee on County Treasurer.

After roll call and adoption of the minutes of the previous session, Tuesday evening, the first matter to come up was the reading of the report of the committee on county treasurer and sealer. The committee reported finding the books correct and the conduct of the office excellent. They had found claims for $266.65, which had been audited at that amount. A balance of $7,423.50 was found to the credit of the county and jury fund. It was recommended that there be appropriated $10,000 and credited to the county and jury fund; $1,000 for printing proceedings of the board, $4,122.50 to pay county bonds and coupons due in 1920, $2,040 for county and alms house bonds and coupons on county outside the city; $500 for bounties for jack rabbits; and $1,000 for fund for burial of deceased soldiers and sailors. There was also found $3,307.66 receipts from county clerk, an $63.40 from county treasurer, which the committee recommended be transferred to the salary account. Numerous balances were recommended to be transferred to the general fund. It was recommended that the county treasurer after January 1st, be allowed 1 per cent on all motor vehicle taxes handled by him. The report was filed and later in the session on motion of Supervisor Fratscher, was adopted and approved and a motion that the amounts recommended be levied was laid over under the rule.

Other Committees.

The committee on tuberculosis and laboratory reported amount of claims on outstanding bills $31,190, amount allowed, $31,150. Filed.

The committee on board of elections reported amount claimed, $1,566; amount allowed, $1,432.50. Filed.

The committee on printing reported amount claimed $14,607.65; amount allowed, $14,296.43. Filed.

The board of county auditors reported, that during the period from January 1, 1919, and December 1, 1919, the audits were as follows:

Court House	$ 1,105.41
Jail	2,557.32
Jail inmates	223.14
County Clerk's Office	948.16
Van Buren building	264.93
Sheriff	552.03
County Clerk as Register	872.74
Surrogate	562.21
County Treasurer	544.16

Supervisors' Expenses	464.87
District Attorney	239.28
Commissioners of Election	201.30
Highways	352.57
County Sealer	2.50
County Court, Civil	315.00
County Attorney	150.00
County Auditors	10.00
Total Audits	$11,525.55
Auditors' Credit	$487.45

There had been appropriated to the credit of the county auditors in 1918, the sum of $12,000 and $23 had been refunded to the auditors by the Remington Typewriter Company, for overpayment, which made the amount for disbursement $12,023, and as the audits were $11,525.55 there was a credit balance of $478.45. The board of auditors requested an appropriation of $12,000 for the ensuing year, filed, and later a motion to levy the amount was laid over under the rule.

The annual report of the board of managers of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital was read and referred to committee on Tuberculosis Hospital and Laboratory. It follows:

SCHAEFFER KILLED NEAR NEWBURGH

West Shore Employee of This City Run Over by Train This Morning—Brother of Joseph M. Schaeffer.

Ernest Schaeffer of 78 O'Neill street was killed at Plum Point, near Newburgh, early this morning by being run over by a West Shore freight train on which he was a flagman. He was back of the train flagging it while it backed up to allow the West Shore milk train coming to this city to pass, and his train, which he evidently did not see in the darkness, ran over him. Mr. Schaeffer had been employed on the West Shore railroad for a number of years and is survived by a wife and a married daughter. He was a son of the late Alex. Schaeffer, who was a harness maker, for years employed by the late Daniel Johnston, who had a harness shop on Wall street, where the McBride drug store and the entrance to the Keeney Theater are located. He was a brother of Joseph M. Schaeffer, cashier of the State of New York National Bank, and of William Schaeffer, of 215 West Chester street.

PLAN OPPOSITION TO PHONE RATES

Nearly All Cities in State Unite in Seeking Way to Have New Rates Set Aside—Add $2,000,000 Yearly to Company's Revenue.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, Dec. 3.—The telephone rates which became effective this week in most of the cities and a large number of villages in this state, will increase the revenues of the telephone company approximately $2,000,000 a year, according to a statement made public here today by Stewart Hancock, corporation counsel of Syracuse and chairman of the committee appointed by the State Conference of Mayors to represent the cities before the Public Service Commission in opposition to the increase. Mr. Hancock's statement follows:

"Our committee has been informed by Milo R. Maltbie, whom the cities may employ as advisory expert, that the increase in telephone rates which became effective on Monday of this week will amount to from 15% to 20%, or from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 a year in the area outside of New York city. This increase in rates as compared with the rates in effect July 31, 1918, before the first increase was made, is estimated to be about 30%, or from $3,000,000 to $3,500,000 a year in the area outside of Greater New York.

"Practically all of the cities affected and a large number of the villages have agreed to unite in opposing this increase. Plans for the opposition will be completed tomorrow at a meeting of the local advisors of the cities and villages."

Miss Broaders Gave.

The Freeman was misinformed regarding one of the items of gifts to the Tuberculosis Hospital the past month. It was Miss Broaders of Chester street who gave the canned fruit, jellies and magazines. She was accompanied to the hospital by some of the little folks from the Industrial Home, who went with her to see the children at the hospital, and they took some of their children's papers, given to them, and read by them, to share with the children at the hospital.

COUNCIL STARTS LAST MEETING

Large Amount of Business to be Cleaned Up Makes it Necessary to Hold Adjourned Meeting Next Tuesday Evening.

With a full attendance Tuesday night the common council started to sing its swan song, bidding farewell to all the cares of running a city, but alas, it did not finish. There were more "verses" to this song of farewell than the aldermen had counted on singing so they were forced to call an adjourned meeting for next Tuesday night when it is expected they will finish the score and have a clean set of books for the 1920 city fathers.

Seated on the rostrum with Alderman-at-Large Samuel Watts Tuesday night was Lieut. R. C. Dittus, president-elect of the council, Lieut. Dittus was there to learn the "ropes" before assuming his duties January 1, 1920. Following the roll call, the new presiding officer was presented to the aldermen by President Watts. Lieut. Dittus said he had nothing to say at the present time but that he was there to get a few "pointers." He thanked the aldermen, promising them that he would have more to say later.

Election Bills.

The meeting was a quiet one for the last of this body, the only real excitement coming after the election bills had been read. These bills totalled over $5,000 and included rental of polling places, placing of guard rails, installation of electric wires and salaries of election inspectors.

At the completion of the reading of these bills, Alderman Fred J. Roosa, of the Second ward, registered a decided "kick" on the excessiveness of some of the bills. He said that it was time that the council gave some bills. Ten dollars, said he, was entirely too much for placing a guard rail in a polling place, when most carpenters charged but $5. He also called attention to the fact that in the Ninth ward there was a charge of $108.25 for placing electric wires and lights in a polling place. This bill had not been included in those read by the clerk. In the course of a few years, said Alderman Roosa, the election will cost $500 a polling place. He said that he believed it was high time the council take up the matter of building its own polling places.

One alderman explained the guard rail cost by stating that $5 was charged each time the rails were put up and taken down. All bills were for the registration days and election day. Alderman Van Valkenburg, of the Ninth ward, explained that his ward now had a permanent election place and that he did not consider the electric charge of $108.25 too high. He said that the owner of the building would not use a single light which had been placed there by the city. He asked that the election bills for his ward be read and included in the report of the auditing committee.

Alderman Mann, of the Sixth ward, asked that two bills for janitor service in his ward be also read. The chair informed the two aldermen that their bills could be read, but could not be included in the report of the auditing committee.

The report of the auditing committee was then read, following which Alderman Schlip moved that the report be accepted and warrants issued for the several amounts. This was carried. President Watts then directed the clerk to read the election bills of the Ninth and Sixth wards. The Ninth ward bills included $66 for rental and guard rails; John H. Hudler, $23.57 for guard rail, and $108.25 for electrical equipment. Alderman Preston asked why there were two bills for guard rails for the same place. Alderman Van Valkenburg explained that the bills were for placing and taking the rails down on two different occasions.

Alderman Roosa asked that the items in the Hudler bill be read. When the itemized bill had been read, the alderman commented that ten cents a foot for hemlock was rather high. The bill was referred to the auditing committee. Two bills in the Sixth ward of $10 each for janitor service in the First and Second election districts of the ward were also given to the auditing committee.

The auditing committee further reported that it had investigated the claim of Michael Mitchell, who asked $700 for goods claimed to be damaged at his store on Abelci street, and that it recommended a settlement of $200. A warrant for this amount was ordered drawn in favor of Chris J. Flanagan, Mr. Mitchell's attorney.

Other Business.

In a communication to the council, City Treasurer A. B. Pardee reported that the New York, Ontario & Western railroad had paid its delinquency tax amounting to $516.89, on October 24, but had not paid the delinquency fee. The railroad, he reported, stated it had not received its tax bill mailed on July 30, and that if it had the bill would have been paid promptly. The railroad asked that the delinquency fee be waived in this case, but the charter gives no authority to the city treasurer to waive such fees. Mr. Pardee referred the matter to the council. On motion of Alderman Schlip, the request of the railroad was granted. Uncollected taxes reported to the council were referred to the corporation counsel.

Resolutions.

Alderman Schlip offered a resolution requesting the board of public

LUCKEY, PLATT NOT COMING HERE

To find out if there was any truth in the persistent rumors that Luckey, Platt and Company of Poughkeepsie were negotiating to buy property here on which to establish a branch store. The Freeman this morning, called up the manager of the store in Poughkeepsie. He promptly denied it, saying: "We have no intention at present of buying any property in Kingston for that purpose. However, we are very grateful for the large trade which comes to us from that city."

SAM AND PHIL WILL BE SOLD

Fire Board Decides to Sell the Two Fire Horses That Drew the Hook and Ladder Truck—New Truck to be Exhibited Thursday.

Sam and Phil are to be sold. They have been replaced in the fire department by a motor truck. Sam is the bay and Phil the black horse that drew the big hook and ladder truck at the Central Fire Station to so many fires in the city. The decision to sell the two horses has been made by the fire board as they will no longer be needed, since the board has purchased the big business-like automobile hook and ladder truck.

The new auto truck is now here, and may be seen almost daily being tested out on the city streets. With the installation of the truck the Kingston fire department has been completely motorized, which adds greatly to its efficiency.

In the past six years the fire department has greatly improved in efficiency both in men and equipment, and today Kingston has as fine a fire department as any city of the same size.

In order to give the people of the city a chance to examine the new motor hook and ladder truck before it is put into service, the fire board will place it on exhibition in both ends of the city Thursday afternoon between 2 and 4 o'clock. The truck will be at the corner of Broadway and East strand, Friday afternoon between 2 and 4 o'clock it will be at Wiltwyck engine house.

Nurses' Graduation.

The graduating exercises of the Nurses' Training School of the City of Kingston Hospital, Class of 1919, will be held in the Knights of Columbus Hall on Friday evening of this week. An invitation is extended to all members of the Ladies' Auxiliary to attend the exercises. Members of the Nurses' Alumnae Association and personal friends of the graduates are also invited to be present. Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck will be the speaker of the evening.

Senate to Probe Newberry Case.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Dec. 3.—Investigation of the election of Senator Newberry. Republican, Michigan, was ordered today by the senate.

works to remove a boulder on East Chester street, south of the residence of Joe Tubby.

Alderman Preston offered a resolution to the effect that the Board of Public Works be requested to remove a block on streets that have been paved by Wilite on stated days and hours, to give the children a safe place to play.

Alderman Van Valkenburg presented a resolution requesting an electric light on O'Reilly street in the vicinity of Wiltwyck Cemetery.

Alderman Preston presented the following resolution: Resolved, that the Common Council go on record as favoring an increase in salaries for experienced school teachers beginning January 1, 1920. The resolution was signed by Florence Wheeler for Kingston Chapter of the School Women's Club of the Hudson Valley. On the vote taken all aldermen voted in favor, except Alderman Mann, who had been excused from the meeting and Alderman Schlip, who asked to be excused. Alderman Schick called for the absentee vote whereupon Alderman Schlip asked to be excused by vote of the council. On the vote his request was not granted, and he registered his vote in the affirmative, passing the resolution unanimously.

Alderman Schlip introduced a resolution to the effect that an ordinance be drafted regulating the fares of taxicabs in this city. This resolution was amended by Alderman Connelly to include the regulation of speed for taxicabs. The alderman stated that "taxicabs can run 40, 50 and 60 miles an hour, while a horse-drawn carriage runs 20 miles per hour." Alderman Schlip also called attention to the fact that taxi drivers were making a nuisance of themselves around railroad stations, and asked that a regulation be remedied this be included in the ordinance. He presented a letter from H. J. Goodell, chief of railroad police of the West Shore railroad, asking that the conduct of taxi drivers at that station, be regulated for the convenience of the passengers for the adjourned meeting.

FALL RESOLUTION ASKS FOR BREAK

In Diplomatic Relations With Mexico Says Senate Will Get Astounding Evidence That Carranza Fosters Radicals to Make Trouble Here.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Dec. 3.—Severance of diplomatic relations between the United States and the Carranza government is provided in a resolution introduced in the senate this afternoon by Senator Fall of New Mexico, chairman of the sub-committee of the senate foreign relations committee, investigating the Mexican situation.

Senator Fall charged that the Carranza government was fostering the Bolshevist, I. W. W. and other radical movements in this country in an effort to make trouble for the American government and the American people.

"I offer this resolution only after the most mature consideration," Fall said, "and upon evidence which will astound the American people when it is presented to them through the senate."

"The radical situation in this country and on the Mexican border is far worse than most of us have any conception of," Senator Fall continued.

"I charge the Carranza government with fostering 'radicalism' in this country and in Mexico in an effort to make trouble for us."

"I charge the Mexican embassy at Washington and the Mexican consulate at New York city and the Mexican consuls along the border are delivering and encouraging the spread of Bolshevism and I. W. W. propaganda throughout the United States."

STORES MAY BE OPEN EVENINGS

The executive committee of the Retail Trade Board of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce after a careful study of the situation has recommended that Kingston stores be opened evenings for Christmas trade from Monday, December 15th, to Wednesday, December 24th, inclusive.

It is believed that uniform action on this matter will be a great convenience to Kingston shoppers and to the many thousands of people from the surrounding country who are in rapidly increasing numbers getting the habit of looking to Kingston as a natural trading center.

Kingston stores are doing a fine December business and expect record breaking Christmas sales.

Dress Up Week, Dollar Day, Fall Display Week, uniform summer closing and the other instances of co-operation of Kingston merchants through the Retail Trade Board, have all helped in gaining new friends who come to Kingston stores from increasing distances.

The service given them, the fine quality and exceptional variety of the goods offered by Kingston merchants together with the reasonable prices mean that those who come once come often.

A hearty welcome is always extended to Kingston, the natural trading center of a territory having a population of 150,000.

The great event of early December in Kingston is the Ulster County Farm Bureau exhibition at the Kingston armory on Friday and Saturday, December 5 and 6.

The merchants of Kingston extend the most cordial and hearty welcome to the members and friends of the Farm Bureau.

LEGION AFTER "WORK SLACKER"

All Posts Will Have Employment Committees to Assist Discharged Soldiers in Obtaining Jobs.

Eliminating the "work slacker" is the new job which the American Legion has taken upon itself, acting in conjunction with the war department's chain of employment bureaus throughout the country. This type of ex-service man, while not numerous, is occasionally a serious detriment to the work of placing ex-soldiers and sailors in satisfactory jobs. Their attitude of shiftlessness after getting the place causes dissatisfaction among employers who are really trying to help, and gives a black eye to other service men who still need work.

Practically all the Posts of the Legion now have employment committees. In some cases these committees have taken over all the task of finding jobs for their fellow service men. In other localities they cooperate with the war department. In Bridgeport, Conn., where the work slacker has been a serious evil, the Legion keeps a special file of such cases of repeating in jobs. As a rule a heart-to-heart talk from a comrade in arms has been enough. In other cases a refractory man has been denied the services of the employment office altogether.

In Detroit, the Legion works also with the police. Where an ex-soldier in uniform is taken up for some minor offense, like begging or peddling, a probationary system has been adopted. Instead of sending these men to jail, the authorities have consented to put them on probation with the American Legion. This practice has had a very salutary effect, and Detroit's problem of putting to work every returned fighting man is no longer so serious.

In practically all states the employment committees of the Legion now make a canvass of all the employers. Wherever jobs are offered returned soldiers, the employers are told that the Legion expects to keep in touch with the men in places, in order to see that they give satisfactory service. If this is not forthcoming, the Legion gives such men short shrift. On the other hand, the deserving ex-service man who needs employment will have his case persisted in until he is placed. Work slackers have to appear before a committee of their comrades.

In many places local chambers of commerce or associations of manufacturers have agreed with the Legion to have a job for every homecoming soldier and sailor.

In commenting upon the nationwide co-operation of the American Legion, Major General William G. Haan, assistant chief of staff, in charge of the war department's re-employment program, says:

"Today the American Legion has become an aggressive factor in getting jobs for our fighting men. They are extending the scope of their work so very rapidly that now this influence is felt in every state in the union. While the original plan was for the members to co-operate in employment work, in many communities it has been necessary for them to take over the entire burden, because of the withdrawal of other agencies from the field. In every case they are meeting with the greatest success, and eventually the Legion will be the great standby of the soldier who needs assistance of any kind."

"If anyone still has any doubt in his mind as to the present attitude of the mass of discharged soldiers, I would advise him to go to any post meeting of the American Legion and say something against the government, advocating Bolshevism, anarchy or any other form of destruction. He will then quickly find that the ex-service man has not yet forgotten the art of fighting."

Last night's audience mystified

Tries vainly to detect difference between voice of famous soprano and RE-CREATION by Edison's new phonograph

Those present at the High School Auditorium last night saw Alice Verlet walk onto the stage. They saw her take her position next to a beautiful cabinet. They saw her lips give voice to the opening lines of Caro Nome. Then suddenly her lips were still—but the song kept flowing on.

How came this? They were hearing Miss Verlet's voice, yet Miss Verlet was not singing. The entire audience gasped as it slowly realized that it had been unable to distinguish between Miss Verlet's voice and the RE-CREATION of that voice by the New Edison.

This was the daring test undertaken last night at the High School Auditorium by Thomas A. Edison.

He sought to prove that no difference exists between the voice of the living artist and its RE-CREATION by the New Edison. The musically cultured of Kingston were invited to pass judgment. No test could have been more exacting.

Miss Verlet made comparison after comparison. The mystified audience tried vainly to catch a difference between the original rendition and its RE-CREATION by the New Edison. No one could tell one from the other.

It was a triumph whole and complete for the New Edison.

THE NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph With A Soul"

The instrument used in last night's Tone-Test is the regular model which sells for $285 (in Canada, $431). It is an exact duplicate of the Laboratory Model which Mr. Edison perfected after spending Three Million Dollars in experiments.

The New Edison alone of all phonographs is capable of sustaining this test. Until Mr. Edison knew it would do so, he regarded his work as unfinished.

Ask some one who was present last night. Learn the amazing truth. Then come in and let us prove it personally to you.

KINGSTON, N. Y., DEC. 3, 1919.

With Prohibition in sight it is not surprising that Tammany would want to go into the milk business. Tammany always believed in distribution, provided it could be the distributor. And there is no getting around it, Tammany is expert at farming anywhere outside of the farming communities.

Charles Evans Hughes, in an address touching on industrial conditions, said: "We have made little progress in providing the machinery for industrial justice and in this respect we are still uncivilized. We are still at the stage corresponding to that of trial by ordeal in the early law of procedure. But we cannot go on indefinitely in this way."

Governor Smith in his promised drive for compulsory health insurance, should read what Warren S. Stone, chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, says before he starts on a campaign to force the legislature to adopt a social welfare program. Here is what Stone says: "I want to say frankly, as a representative of labor, that there is not going to be any compulsory health insurance if we can stop it."

The middle class, which once in while tells the upper class what it can do, and the lower class what it must do, is defined by a writer as follows: "The middle class is distinguished by the fact that not having sufficient capital to retire upon it has to work. The middle class man is a brain worker who is obliged to work or go under. And he is obliged to conform to current standards of respectability, physically as well as mentally and morally."

Judging from reports, the people of the state who read the address by State Engineer Frank M. Williams, opposing an expenditure of several hundred millions on a ship canal before the barge canal has been tested, agree with the state engineer that it would be well to find out whether the barge canal is any good before embarking on another outlay that would require years to meet. The state engineer's advice, to not discredit the barge canal hurriedly, has been well received. It means economy.

THE MILK "BATTLE."

Those who are hoping, conservatively, for the stabilizing of forces which make up our various activities see a farce in that which might be termed "Tammany's Milk Battle." Just now responsible people wish to pursue their particular endeavors without confusion and uncertainty as to whether they are to be subjected to official interference, or what amounts to that. As a matter of truth they hope for a return to safe and sane government without frills and isms, but with Tammany trying to operate the farms of the state the outlook is not bright. Here are some facts:

Governor Smith first appointed George Gordon Battle, adviser of Charles F. Murphy, chief of the Tammany machine, to "investigate" the Department of Farms and Markets. Past that over that members of the Governor's committee turned against the Governor and even submitted testimony, not to the latter's advantage. It is a fact that the whole investigation of the Department was only serious in that it was expensive.

This is not unusual and was to be expected of a Tammany administration. But the latest move of Mr. Battle is alarming. In plain words, Mr. Battle has organized a strike. He has managed to keep somewhat in the background, but he is in full control of his strikers.

Investigator Battle, failing to find much to be criticized in the administration of agriculture, apparently thought he had found a solution of the milk supply. He organized community councils and through these councils he organized the so-called milk strike. Thousands and thousands were induced to refuse to use milk, one of the principal products of the farm, for three days each week.

And on the heels of this comes a Tammany Governor's suggestion for the appointment of a commission to fix the price of milk. Just what the general sentiment is on this may develop later.

T. B. KILLS MORE THAN 27TH LOST

Guard Division Lost 12,391 In Great Conflict While White Plague Claimed 60,000 In New York In 1918.

When New York's own National Guardsmen, the Twenty-seventh Division of the American Expeditionary Force, stormed and broke the Hindenburg line, its casualties brought sorrows to homes all over New York state. In that action and in other engagements in which the division participated, it lost in killed and died of wounds 1,701, in wounded 4,520, and in gassed 6,173 a total of 12,394. The casualties were unavoidable. They came in the performance of a task which had to be done. And for each measure of sorrow there was a thrill of pride in the fact that the men were willing to go.

The folks at home would have given anything to have saved those lads, but nothing they could do would serve. Yet there is a greater casualty list in New York state each year, whether in peace or war.

White Plague Is Enemy.

Tuberculosis, the Great White Plague, is the enemy. Each year it kills and incapacitates many more persons in the state than the Twenty-seventh Division lost in all its actions. For 1918 the tuberculosis death toll, in New York state, outside of New York city, was 9,075, more than 350 per cent greater than the death roster of Major-General O'Ryan's men. The same year there was a little over 51,000 persons in the state suffering from the disease. Like the wounded in battle, they were either wholly or partially incapacitated and their number was 885 per cent greater than the wounded of New York's gallant Twenty-seventh.

Unlike some of the other diseases which sweep a nation in a few months and then vanish, tuberculosis works steadily and remorselessly, summer and winter, year in and year out, and has been working century after century.

Must Fight Steadily.

It must be fought as it fights, steadily and remorselessly, if all people join in the effort it can be beaten back, controlled and perhaps stamped out. One of the strongest opponents of tuberculosis is the Red Cross Christmas Seal. This little sticker which carries the message of Christmas cheer and good health has been in the battle since 1908. In its first year it brought about $3,000. Since then its receipts have grown by leaps and bounds. Its battle ground is the entire United States and its objective this year is $6,500,000, of which the New York state quota is $582,000.

The tuberculosis death rate went down steadily from 1908 to 1916. Then the conditions brought about by the war, the influenza epidemic and other causes resulted in a gain for the enemy. This year the Red Cross Christmas Seal is going to counterattack in an effort to recover the ground lost during the war and to drive into the enemy's country.

TODAY'S WATCHWORD

—Sickness Prevention

The guiding inspiration of modern medical science is Sickness Prevention. As this idea has worked itself out, smallpox, cholera, yellow fever and other infectious diseases already have given way. Nujol by relieving constipation prevents the absorption of the poisons which otherwise would be taken into the blood and infect the whole system.

That plague is constipation, and that agent Nujol.

The dangers of constipation are so widespread because by reducing the body's power of resistance through self-poisoning it makes it easier for any disease to develop. Nujol by relieving constipation prevents the absorption of the poisons which otherwise would be taken into the blood and infect the whole system.

Leading medical authorities agree that pills, salts, castor oil, etc., simply force and weaken the system. Nujol softens the food waste and encourages the intestinal muscles to act naturally.

Nujol helps Nature establish easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world. Get a bottle from your druggist today.

VERLET CONCERT WAS UNIQUE

The concert held at the High School Auditorium Tuesday evening was a unique affair. The guests, whose number included most of the music lovers of Kingston society, assembled delighted at the prospect of hearing a recital by the celebrated Mlle. Alice Verlet, assisted by Victor Young, pianist, but a surprise was in store for them. Not one Mlle. Verlet, but two, sang to the spell-bound audience; and the piano selections were played by two Victor Youngs. And this phenomenon was brought about by means of a graceful cabinet, which stood beside the artists on the stage, and matched their performances, note for note and tone for tone.

The first performance of the miracle was in the initial number on the program, when Mlle. Verlet, standing beside the cabinet, sang in unison with Mr. Edison's Re-Creation of her own voice. In the midst of the song, Mlle. Verlet's lips ceased to move but her song went on with out a break. Slowly it dawned upon the astonished audience that the artist was no longer singing, though her voice came forth to them as clear and sweet as ever. She sang again—and the only perceptible difference was the motion of her lips. She ceased—but her voice did not. Veritably it seemed that there were two singers upon the stage—two singers, but only one voice. For the tones which came from the New Edison matched those from the living artist so perfectly that it was impossible to detect any difference. The instrument produced not an echo or copy, but the real thing—Mlle. Verlet's voice unspoiled by any mechanical transformations, untainted by any metallic ring.

After the applause which followed this remarkable exhibition, Victor Young came forward to share the stage with his fellow musician, the New Edison. Again two artists were before us, for Victor Young with the piano played in unison with the Re-Creation of his art. Only by watching him could we tell when we were hearing one Victor Young and when his music came to us in double measure. The instrumental Re-Creation was as perfect as that of Mlle. Verlet's delightful voice. It was identical with the original in every particular.

Successive numbers on the program proved that the field of the New Edison is not limited to vocal and piano records. An orchestra selection was Re-Created with such fidelity that it was possible to follow the notes of any single instruments throughout the piece, for the identity of each was preserved, contributing its special color to the ensemble. A Re-Creation of a number on the piano was a revelation to those who had decided after hearing talking machine records, that the piano tone could not be reproduced. Further numbers in which Mlle. Verlet and Victor Young, performed with themselves served to convince the audience of their inability to distinguish between Re-Created art and its original.

One of the most interesting novelties in this evening of unique experiences, was when Mlle. Verlet sang a duet with her own voice. It was as though two artists with voices of exactly the same tonal quality, the same expression, the same timbre, were singing together. The effect was some-how unreal and weird, as though one artist had been bewitched into two by some magician's art.

The climax of the evening's entertainment was when the room was darkened in the middle of one of Mlle. Verlet's selections, and the listeners were left with no means but their ears of determining when they were hearing her voice in double volume, and when it reached them only from the New Edison. At first everyone doubted his own ability to judge, but as her previous proofs were forgotten in the spell of the song, they became more and more convinced that no instrument could sing as this voice was singing, and that Mlle. Verlet was making no more breaks in her own performance. Suddenly the lights were snapped on. The audience was astonished to discover that Mlle. Verlet was not there at all, and that the New Edison had furnished the song alone.

Such miracles are indeed the work of a magician—but a most benevolent one. For the wizard, who accomplished this miracle of re-creation, is as anxious that it shall add to the comfort and joy of mankind, as he has been that his other inventions be used for the good of the race. Thousands of very fine New Edison records, made in a special, hard durable enough to stand the hard knocks of army and navy, keepers' best singers. Doesn't make any difference how speedy that car of yours is—its speed can be increased with the New Stromberg Carburetor.

In doubt? All right—figure it out for yourself. Speed comes from power. Power comes from fuel—from gasoline. Before the raw material can be turned into power it must be converted into gas. The better the carburetion the greater the speed.

Carburetion depends upon your carburetor. The better the carburetor the better the carburetion—and so on down the line to greatest speed.

We claim and we know that on any car, of any size, the New Stromberg will convert fuel into its most usable and mightiest form. We know this because the New Stromberg holds the world's record on virtually all makes of cars—from Fords to the most costly and most powerful.

We are ready to back up our assertion with a ten day free trial on your machine. If the New Stromberg does not increase speed—increased power—give easier starting—better acceleration—and give it to you at a lower cost, the trial costs you nothing.

CONSERVATION COMMISSION'S FOREST POLICY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Dec. 3.—Faced by the fact that New York state is cutting from three to five times more timber than is grown here each year, and that the vital manufacturing establishments which depend upon unfailing supplies of forest products are migrating to other fields, the conservation commission has just made public a rational forest policy for the state, the adoption of which is urged in order to offset the imminent menace of a wood shortage. The policy, which is contained in a letter mailed today by Conservation Commissioner George D. Pratt to the governor and the members of the legislature, for their consideration between now and the rush of the legislative session, constitutes a unified plan to meet the necessity for a proper protection and development of the forest lands of the state, as well as to replenish the fast vanishing supply. It is the first broad-gauge response to the warning made by Colonel Henry S. Graves, chief of the U. S. Forest Service, based upon a timber survey to meet war needs, that timber in the east is rapidly approaching an end, and that the remedy for the situation is one of the most fundamentally important questions with which we have to deal today.

The measures now suggested as a solution of the problem in New York state have, according to Commissioner Pratt, already in their main features been thoroughly developed and tested by the conservation commission in the two greatest forested regions of the state.

Among the first steps advocated is the division of the state into ten forestry districts, each under the supervision of an experienced forester. He would act under the direction of the division of lands and forests of the conservation commission in the same way that district rangers in the forest preserve counties now administer their forest areas. In matters relating to forestry such a man would occupy a place similar to that occupied in agriculture by the farm bureau agents, whose work has been so proved a success.

Through the medium of these foresters an up-to-date system of forest fire protection would be extended to all forests throughout the state. The Conservation Commission's experience in the Adirondack and Catskill sections has proved that by the proper organization of a fire fighting machine, forest fires can be reduced to a negligible minimum. Outside of these main forested regions, however, there is today an enormous annual loss of forest resources from preventable fires. The general system that has worked so well in the mountain regions, Commissioner Pratt declares to be equally applicable to the entire state.

The district forester would also give advice and assistance in the protection of forested areas from the ravages of disease and insects; he would help farmers in the scientific cutting and handling of their wood lots, with the object of providing not only wood for immediate use, but also making provision for successive years and generations; he would report such areas of land as are not suited to agriculture, and would use his influence to have them placed under a forest growth; in this connection he would be of assistance to land owners in the selection of the proper trees and their planting. The planting and care of shade trees along highways would also be a part of the forester's work, and in co-operation with the State Department of Highways he would prepare the necessary plans, supervise the work of planting the trees, and see that after planting they were properly protected.

A comprehensive inventory of the forest resources of the entire state, which would furnish a basis for adequate steps to insure our future timber supply, is included in Commissioner Pratt's recommendation. Besides the inventory of standing timber resources, a survey of the soil of the state from the forester's standpoint is urged for the purpose of determining the lands fit for agriculture, and those that should be used for permanent forestry purposes. Although New York is the "richest user of wood of any state," Commissioner Pratt's statement shows that with a proper administration of the land best adapted for timber production, New York state should eventually be able to supply a large part, if not all of its timber needs.

"The forest is a crop," says Commissioner Pratt. "This is a truth which we have failed to realize while we have exploited with a lavish hand the free gift of nature accumulated through the vast, unmeasured past. I believe that the state should supply trees for reforestation free of charge to private land owners, under agreements with the land owners that the trees will be properly planted and cared for. It is true that the private land owners who use the trees would receive a direct financial benefit from these trees, through the increased sale value of their idle land after a very few years. I feel that the urgent need for stimulating reforestation will well justify the expense to the state. For every dollar spent in the distribution of free trees to the farmers and other owners of idle, non-agricultural land, the industries of the state and the people at large will realize a direct return multiplied many times."

The development of community forests, a practice which has been followed in European countries for many years, is already under way in New York state, and much interest has been shown in the planting of forests on lands owned by municipalities, townships, counties and school districts. Commissioner Pratt recommends that such lands as have been acquired through the non-payment of taxes and foreclosures of loan commission mortgages be made productive by forest planting.

The marketing of various forest products is also a matter which could be made to work to the much greater advantage of the people of the state. The collection of information throughout the state as to the demands of the market and the distribution of this information among the producers of timber would jointly benefit the producer of the timber, the manufacturer, and the ultimate consumer.

Another matter upon which legislation is urgently needed is that of forest taxation. Under the present system the land owner cuts his trees at the time when they are growing most rapidly, because the high tax recurring each year, and the uncertainty as to future taxation, discourage any other method. A rational system of taxation would provide for the harvesting of the mature crop, and not for the cutting of trees before they are half grown.

"A full summary of the benefits," the letter says in conclusion, "that will accrue to New York state upon the adoption of a broad plan for forest development will reach into practically every phase of the life of the people. Hardly an industry can be named, which is not in one way or another dependent upon supplies of wood. With the development of our water resources, the need for wood supplies will be even greater. A decrease in the production of wood products and a relocation of mills elsewhere will tend to increase the cost of products to the consumer. We must accordingly maintain and develop our forests, and thus protect our industries, and employ our labor. We must insure permanency in industry, and not allow parts of the Empire State to become deserted villages. This is a social and economic problem, which a broad plan of forest development can do much to solve. The next session of congress will see bills introduced to stimulate this work throughout the entire country, and to co-operate with those states that take constructive action. By the initiation of the work here outlined, New York will benefit by federal co-operation under laws already passed, and will place herself in the vanguard of those commonwealths that realize the exhaustibility of forest resources and the necessity for conservation and replacement."

THRIFT ANARCHY'S FOE SAYS HAYES

Co-partnership in the government through investment in treasury savings certificates is an antidote for anarchy and social disorder, in the opinion of Archbishop Patrick J. Hayes, ranking prelate of the New York diocese of the Catholic Church. In an endorsement of the thrift citizens' movement of work and save, now being conducted by the Government Loan Organization, U. S. Treasury Department, Archbishop Hayes has urged the clergy under his jurisdiction to advise their congregations to become actively interested in thrift. It is one of the methods by which the high cost of living may be reduced, the prelate declares.

His endorsement of the thrift citizen movement, an intensive effort to obtain the enrollment of leaders in thrift throughout the Second Federal Reserve District, is contained in a letter to the Catholic clergy in this district. It follows:

"The United States government, realizing that prompt measures must be employed to allay the prevailing unrest, is appealing to the conscience and sane judgment of the people for their support in a movement which will reduce primarily the high cost of living. In all the churches of this section of the country, the plan will be explained to the people and they will be urged to co-operate with the government, by learning the lessons of wise spending, regular saving and the value of investing in government securities. This drive is not to obtain money, rather it is to make people save. It is not for a brief period. It is intended to cultivate the spirit of thrift. Once our people become stockholders in the government, as they will by purchasing thrift savings certificates, anarchy and social disorder will no longer menace peace and prosperity. I would suggest that you study carefully the literature enclosed and urge upon your people the necessity of taking an active interest in this movement."

The Tale of B. Thrifty.

B. Thrifty is a wise young man who saves his dollars when he can and cultivates the thrifty plank of putting money in the bank. He started with a small amount and keeps a growing bank account, because he has the knack of thrift and watches how the dollars drift. "Be thrifty," is his wise advice, "from every pay check save a slice—and you will be surprised I know to see how fast your savings grow." He has of sense a good amount who banks upon a bank account for dollars wisely laid away increase in value every day. "The man who has no will to save is little better than a slave, and sure as fate the time will come when he will need a little sum." He is a wise and frugal duck who does not simply trust to luck, but saves some money up instead against the rainy day ahead. "Misfortune finds it hard to spank the man with money in the bank, and thus it's well to cultivate the habit of the saving trail."—Middleton Times-Press.

Uster County Tuberculosis Hospital:

Gentlemen: I have the honor to herewith transmit the tenth annual report of the Uster county tuberculosis hospital for the year ending September 30, 1919. It gives me great pleasure to report that the past twelve months have shown a hearty co-operation between "The Board of Managers" of your institution and "The Uster County Committee on the Prevention of Tuberculosis." This cooperation has resulted in much good being done for the people of our county, who are afflicted with tuberculosis. In one instance it being the provision of hospital care and in the other the visiting and instructing of patients in their own homes in order that those with whom the infected patients must daily associate may properly protect themselves from this terrible disease.

For the future several things seem to be greatly needed in order to successfully carry on the work, but we are fully confident that these will be provided for just so long as our hospital continues to perform a useful service to the community.

During the past year we have had under our care three soldier patients for periods of two to thirteen and one half weeks and in this connection we wish to acknowledge the efficient co-operation of the Home Service Section of Uster County Chapter of the American Red Cross, whose efforts have greatly aided in securing the admission of these cases.

The work of the hospital for the past year has been very similar to that of other years. A majority of the cases admitted being in the moderately advanced and advanced stage, but proper supervision, as to rest, diet, fresh-air, etc., shows many satisfactory improvements.

The hospital has had the benefit of a full time night nurse, while an orderly has been constantly on duty since April of this year. The cost has added one hundred and ten dollars per month to our maintenance expenses of the year. Our buildings and cottages are in good shape. The repairs and improvements have been attended to as such were actually necessary. The largest expense being for recovering one cesspool and the construction of a second connecting cesspool, six by eight feet in size. This work being of substantial construction, being of iron girder, stone and cement tops, with clean-out manholes in each. The cost of this work was about three hundred and fifty dollars. Our more able male and female patients have continued to very materially assist in the work of the hospital, grounds and garden as in former years. The garden has furnished the green vegetables this season, also a six months' supply of potatoes, also a large expense being for team work improving the ground and cultivating the crops.

The Uster County Committee on the Prevention of Tuberculosis maintained a dispensary for the city, where a physician and nurse were in attendance for two afternoon periods each week from May 31, 1918, to July 1, 1919. The nurse service for this work being in charge of Miss Elizabeth M. Brown, R. N., from May 31, 1918, to March 1, 1919, and after the later date the committee decided to add to their nurse service in the city and county another nurse, Miss Lydia Gapp, R. N., of Cohoes, was placed in charge of the dispensary work until its discontinuance on July 1, 1919. This arrangement made it possible for our regular visiting nurse, Miss Brown, to devote all of her time to the county service. Just previous to the discontinuance of the city dispensary a series of twelve clinics were arranged in the county under the co-operation of the nurse service, provided by the local committee and the state department of health, represented by Dr. Laidlaw, sanitary supervisor of this district, and four state nurses. A complete survey of the city and county was made and clinics were held in the following places:

At each of these clinics one or more expert examiners were in attendance and a total of 485 patients presented themselves for examination. Of this number 112 were diagnosed as being tubercular, 282 were negative, $1 suspicious and of the 112 of the positive cases 71 were classified as new cases—not having been reported to the health board of the respective communities.

The plan of holding monthly clinics has now been arranged and these promise to add very much to the value of our visiting nurse service in the different towns and villages of our county. With this arrangement it will make possible the re-visiting and examining of suspicious cases found at former clinics as well as giving new cases the benefit of expert examination and advice.

The expense of our work in quite in excess of former years and this is to several factors among which may be mentioned, increased food costs, addition to salary for night nurse and laundress, and the including in this year's budget of a major part of the cost of last winter's coal supply, the same not being delivered and paid for until after the date of our report for 1918. A comparison of the various items of our maintenance expenses of 1918 and 1919 are as follows:

A comparison of the maintenance cost and medical service as shown by the number of days treatment is as follows:

October 1, 1918, to September 30, 1919, 7,681 days' treatments.

While there has been a waiting list for quite a portion of the year, the decrease in days' treatment is due in a large measure to the interrupted service caused by the large increased number of deaths—the removal or death of one patient, resulting in the loss of time before the admission of another patient, and it will be noted that the loss by death for 1919 was 26 as against 14 for the year previous.

How the Mint Buys Gold.

The mint buys gold in any form, whether coined or not, when presented in sums to the value of $50 or more. The face value of coins is not considered, only their weight and purity. An equivalent amount of lawful money is given in exchange. Theoretically, the gold is coined and handed back to the owner without charge. In practice, as a matter of convenience and to save time, the mint simply buys the gold and pays its full cobbing value—that is what it will be when coined.

Frugality.

Frugality has ever been esteemed a virtue as well among pagans as Christians; there have been even heroes who practiced it. However, we must acknowledge that it is too modest a virtue, or, if you will, too obscure a one to be essential to heroism; few heroes have been able to attain to such a height. Frugality agrees much better with politics; it seems to be the base, the support, and, in a word, the inseparable companion of a just administration.—Oliver Goldsmith.

AUTO HIT POLE TIPPING OVER

Lester Wolf and Harry Werbalowsky Had Narrow Escape From Death Near Shandaken Monday Afternoon—Werbalowsky Breaks Wrist.

Lester Wolf and Harry Werbalowsky had a narrow escape from death Monday afternoon about 12:30 o'clock when the Ford car they were riding in ran off the road and up a seven foot embankment hitting a telegraph pole and tipping over backwards pinning Werbalowsky under the car and hurling Wolf out and to one side.

The two young men were on their way to Oneonta at the time, and were driving along a country road, about a mile north of Shandaken, and near where Shaft No. 6 is being driven by the Degnon Contracting Company for the New York water works. Considerable ice had formed in the ruts in the road and the auto, with Wolf driving, skidded, causing the accident.

Wolf as he staggered to his feet after the collision, heard Werbalowsky cry for help, and looking over to where the car lay with the four wheels spinning in the air, he saw Werbalowsky's arm sticking out. Wolf raised the car enough for Werbalowsky to crawl from under.

The two then walked to the labor camp and were given the assistance of three men to help right the Ford. Wolf started the engine going and found that aside from a broken windshield that the Ford was almost as good as new and he drove to Phoenix where Dr. Gross attended to Werbalowsky's wrist, and then they drove to Kingston.

That both men were not killed or more severely injured is a wonder.

DIDN'T HELP TO GET CLOSE

Excellent Reason Why Old Gentleman Could Not Decipher the Letters on the Card.

The old man was applying at the eye hospital for some spectacles and the doctor was making a test of his eyes. A card was fixed on the wall twenty feet away from where the old man was sitting, and the doctor asked him:

"Can you read that, my man?"
"No, sir," said the old man, "I can't."

The doctor told him to go nearer.
"Well, can you read it now?"
Again the old man replied, "No, sir."

The doctor angrily pulled him forward till his nose almost touched the placard.

"Well, can you read it now?"
"No, sir," said the old man sadly, shaking his head. "You see, sir, I never learnt to read!"

Work Involved in Making Rifle.
Nine hundred and ninety-seven cutting tools alone are required in manufacturing a modern rifle. The twist drill is one of the busiest of these. To supply 1,000,000 rifles, 94,000,000 holes must be drilled.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

BOY SCOUTS AND MILITARISM

By many the boy scouts are looked upon as soldiers in the making. If by making soldiers is meant training boys for intelligent public service, cultivating character, self-reliance, mutual helpfulness, and the capacity to achieve success in the field of chosen endeavor, then the boy scout movement may properly be regarded as military. If by making soldiers is meant cultivating a spirit of pugnacity and the glorification of war, then the boy scout movement is non-military. These elements are not found in it.

Only gradually does it become clearly evident to the public at large that both professionally and in practice the organization of the Boy Scouts of America is, always has been, and, in so far as one can predict, always will be first of all a peace organization. "Peace scouting for character and citizenship" has always been its platform.

But why is this position not yet wholly free from confusion in the public mind? Many still believe, in spite of what has been publicly said and written and in spite of the most substantial proof to the contrary in the conduct of the leaders and the boys, that the movement trains boys for war.

The term "scouting," while perhaps more frequently employed in connection with military maneuvers and war operations, has peaceful uses. Not improperly, we think of a scout as one disciplined to hard work—watchful, self-reliant, observant, straightforward, unselfish, and pleasant in his dealings with others—in short, a very companionable, alert, and helpful fellow.

THE BOY SCOUT IS CLEAN.

HOW SCOUTS AIDED POLICE.

That boys, when they are scouts, can be of great value to the police force is attested in this letter from Chief of Police O'Shaughnessy of Mobile, Ala., to the scout head there:

"My Dear Sir: I feel much honored for the gallant service you and your boy scouts have rendered me and this department. The highest commendation I should speak would be very humble, for I really cannot put into words what I feel about the organization."

"Had it not been for their assistance I doubt if the crowds and traffic would have been handled so magnificently."

SCOUTS TEACH RESUSCITATION.

A picked troop of 35 boy scouts from the 28 troops comprising Fort Orange scout council at Albany, N. Y., visited the police precincts and the fire department stations to demonstrate the Schaefer method of resuscitation which has been successfully used by the scouts for nine years.

During that time scouts throughout the country have saved the lives of many persons, and members of each council in America have been asked by the American Red Cross to take the matter up locally with the city authorities.

WHAT THE SCOUTS DO.

Boy scouts in Louisville, Ky., are working for a cleaner city. These boys were detailed to distribute 50,000 circulars explaining provisions of the ordinance providing for the separation of garbage.

Boy Scouts in Hamilton, Ohio, started out on an inspection tour of the city, visiting yards of the homes to the interest of the clean-up and paint-up campaign. Pictures of yards in bad condition or full of rubbish will be taken by the scouts.

Debt World Is Apt to Forget.
The growing good of the world is partly dependent on unhistoric acts; and that things are not so ill with you and me as they might have been, is half owing to the number who lived faithfully a hidden life, and rest in unvisited tombs.—George Eliot.

IN his diary, Sir Walter Scott reveals that his best thoughts came to him during the shaving hour, just after he awoke. Even in his greatest prosperity, the famous author of "Marmion" always performed this homely task himself, considering it a "hardy and independent personal habit."

And this lovable, simple country gentleman used a razor which justly rewarded his skill—that old time model whose perfect balance makes it seem part of your own hand—a long, keen blade that can lie on your cheek at only one—the right—shaving angle. All that Scott's fine old razor needed to make it a perfect shaving tool was the double-edged, guarded detachable blade of the

SALVATION ARMY.

Weekly Notes Of Uptown Citadel Doings.

Commandant and Mrs. Eugene Mott, formerly in charge of the corps in Kingston, now stationed at Mid-dletown, had charge of the meeting on Tuesday night. There was a very good attendance and the meeting was preceded by a march through the main streets.

Thursday afternoon children from the ages of nine to sixteen years of age are asked to come at four o'clock to practice for the Booster Songsters, who will occupy the platform Saturday nights and have a special program each week. They will practice again Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Thursday night there will be a meeting with the special subject, "Prayer," by a special speaker.

Saturday night the Ulster County Scout Executive Mr. Muhleman will speak. Mr. Muhleman was formerly an officer in the United States army in the capacity of chaplain. The Booster Songsters will sing at this meeting.

Sunday afternoon at 3:30 Wilbur Young and Frank Bartholomew will give the Young People's Legion meeting.

Sunday night at 8 o'clock the first part of the newly organized band will play the opening song at the public night meeting. This is the first appearance of new musicians and it will be an added interest to the service.

Saturday, December 13, the Rev. H. Thompson of Glensco will give a free illustrated lecture, "Pilgrims Progress," at the hall. He has 56 beautiful slides.

Burroughs Snapped.

John Burroughs, famous naturalist, and his son, Julian, had their pictures taken this morning at "Stubsides," in the West Park section of Ulster. M. J. Walsh, the Poughkeepsie photographer, obtained a number of pictures intended for reproduction later in books and magazines. The regular annual pilgrimage of father and son to California will be undertaken next Monday. Henry Ford and Thomas A. Edison are expected to join the party later.—Poughkeepsie Star.

Lace Weaving Ends.

As a result of a strike this week of weavers in the employ of the American Bobbinet Company, it is possible that no more lace weaving will be done in Newburgh. Captain Diamond of the company said that he had received advices that he could secure the material for a third of a cent a yard cheaper in England than in Newburgh, and in the vast volume of work produced this was a very large object.

On Being Natural.

We all boast of our independence and our freedom to live our lives the way we think best, but at that not many of us have nerve enough, sitting at a banquet table, to dip our bread crusts into our coffee. Doing the things we like to do and being ourselves free from all affectation are two performances reserved exclusively for the few glad moments we are at home with the family.

William B. Valin, International.

William B. Valin, the noted explorer, who was the leader of the John Wanamaker expedition to the Arctic Coast of Alaska, has returned to Philadelphia after an absence of two years. Mr. Valin returned with some three tons of material collected during his stay in the Arctic. The collection will be placed in the Museum of the University of Pennsylvania. During his stay in an Eskimo village Mr. Valin discovered a number of igloos entirely covered with ice. Excavating he found a number of bodies clad in reindeer skins and furs. Indication were that the bodies had been frozen in the ice for hundreds of years. Mr. Valin brought back a number of the skeletons. Scientists believe that Mr. Valin has discovered a type of Eskimos now extinct.

OH, YES, THEY LOVED MOTHER

But One Can't Help Feeling the Jones Family Might Have Shown It in Different Way.

Mr. Smith, hearing music and singing at his neighbor's house, decided he would drop in and see how they were.

Mr. Jones welcomed him and ushered him into the parlor where his daughter was playing the piano and his son singing. Mr. Smith begged them to continue. They consented.

The first song they selected was "Mother." They sang this very feelingly and then father joined in on the chorus. This was followed by "Mother Macbrree" and others of like sentiment on songs about mother—how true they were, how dear and how they loved to sing them.

Then, as Mrs. Jones hadn't appeared yet, Mr. Smith inquired about her state of health.

"Oh," said Mr. Jones, "she's well enough. She's in the kitchen doing the dishes, but after she has finished and has taken in the wood she'll join us."—Judge.

The Forgetful Parson.

Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson tells an amusing story of an old West country parson who had to hold two services, one in his own church and one in the church over the moor.

On arriving at the latter church he got into the pulpit and said he was awfully sorry, but he had forgotten to bring a most admirable sermon which he had written.

"Luckily," he continued, "as I came across the moor, I remembered a beautiful story, which I will tell you in place of the sermon. Er—well, dash it, I've forgotten that, too?"

Beginning Another Chapter.

A woman was so fond of pets that when death overtook her 10-year-old cat she was not long in getting a young kitten to fill the place of puss. Whereupon her small neighbor gravely carried the news to his mother that the woman "was starting another cat."

DESTROYS SHIPS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Baltimore, Md., Dec. 3.—Fire early today destroyed two big piers of the Canton Lumber Company, located along Baltimore harbor, destroyed several steamers, including the large United States government steamer Maya, a number of oyster vessels, several tugs and damaged many other vessels. The crews of several vessels were forced to leap into the icy waters of the harbor to escape the flames and many heroic rescues from drowning were reported. One man, William Train, a cook on the steamer Maya, is missing.

Among the vessels damaged were the big excursion steamer Dreamland, the United States Shipping Board steamer Lake Duval and Natchez and the oil tank steamer Wilhelm Jensen.

The fire is believed to have started under the piers, but its cause has not yet been determined.

No estimate of the loss, which will be heavy, could be had.

U. S. FINANCES
SOUND SAYS GLASS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Dec. 3.—The United States is in a sound financial condition and "prosperity flourishes," was emphasized in the annual report of Secretary of the Treasury Glass, made public today.

"A large share of the cost of the war already has been paid for by taxes and the public debt is but a fraction of our national wealth," declared Secretary Glass.

"Our credit and financial structure is sound and our gold reserves the greatest in the world. Prosperity flourishes in every branch of industry and every part of the nation and the people of the country are fully employed."

Unrest was minimized by the secretary as incidental to the war.

Concrete Pier To Be Built On West Strand, and Anchorage Shafts will Be Located on Abree Street—Down 35 Feet on Esopus Side.

Booth & Flynn, the New York contractors, are making good progress driving the shafts in which the cables of the suspension bridge over the Rondout creek will be anchored. Two shafts are being driven on the Esopus side of the creek, and the contractors are down about 35 feet. The holes being driven are six feet in width and will be driven down about eighty feet, and the cables will be anchored in solid rock.

On the Rondout side of the creek two shafts will also be driven. From what can be learned these two shafts will be driven in the road bed of Abree street, near the curb line. The cables will be brought over under the sidewalk on Abree street, and anchored in the street is wide at that point.

The concrete pier on the Esopus side of the creek will form the base of the south tower of the proposed bridge. It is understood that a similar concrete pier will be built in West Strand in front of where Dwyer's old barn used to stand. On this pier will be placed the north tower of the bridge.

The building of the pier in West Strand will mean that the street will have to be detoured around the concrete pier, unless the pier is so built that the street passes through the center of it. The street at that point is about sixteen feet in width, and laid with granite.

MINERS STAND FOR
31 PER CENT

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 3.—There is no possibility of settlement of the coal controversy on the basis of the 14 per cent wage increase offered the miners by Fuel Administrator Garfield.

This flat assertion was made to the International News Service by John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers, upon his arrival at his office here today.

"There can be no less settlement than the 31 per cent proposed by Secretary of Labor Wilson," Mr. Lewis declared.

BENEFIT SHOW
FOR T. B. FUND

O. S. Hathaway, owner of the Hathaway Theatres, has donated the use of Kingston Opera House any evening desired for the giving of an entertainment for the benefit of the Tuberculosis Hospital Fund. A committee is arranging a program by which the talent to be given without expense, so that the entire receipts may go to the fund.

Captain Hobson at St. James's.

The citizens of Kingston will have a rare opportunity to hear a great orator and statesman on Sunday night, when Congressman Hobson of Alabama will speak on the subject, "America and the Destiny of the World." The captain was one of the most heroic figures in the Spanish-American War, when he sank the Merrimac at Santiago while the big guns of forts and ships were doing their deadly work. At that time he was the popular hero, and all hailed him as such. The same splendid spirit of heroism has characterized him ever since those days in the battles in this country for civil righteousness. His thrillingly eloquent voice has been heard in the halls of congress, on the Chautauqua platform, and in many pulpits all over the land. He is a fascinating speaker, especially when his southern fervor is touched by some great moral issue. He has an enviable reputation as an author, having written several books, but he is best known as a stirring speaker on great national and civic themes.

Senator Boise Penrose.

Senator Boise Penrose of Pennsylvania, is severely ill in his home in Philadelphia suffering from an attack of grip which has affected his heart, according to a report received here. The Senator, who is chairman of the Committee of Finance, is one of the dominating forces of the Republican organization. For the past two months Senator Penrose's activities in the House have taxed his strength to the utmost. His brother and Dr. Carpenter are the attending physicians. They have instituted a regime of absolute privacy and quiet.

Ulster County Leads.

With 75 members in its Limit Club representing $7,200, Ulster county now leads the state in the big tuberculosis drive, according to a report made by the state organization. This report states that the county quota has been raised from $10,500 to $20,000. The county is not spending hundreds of dollars mailing Christmas seals throughout the county this year, but has secured workers, who will make a house to house canvass.

COMFORT AND ECONOMY

Heat and comfort are in the balance when you select a heating plant. Guide your judgment by the uniform satisfaction of thousands who have Square Pot Furnaces and Boilers. The Boynton is not the cheapest, but it shows the lowest cost per year. It's built to last and to save coal without sacrificing heat. You can maintain an even fire at any desired speed. Ashes will not accumulate and clinkers pass out freely. If an obstinate clinker causes trouble, there's an inbuilt clinker bar to smash it. The square firepot is most important and is found only in the Boynton. Ask your dealer to demonstrate. We will send particulars on request.

Lame Sickness.
An investigation of the South African disease known as lauziekte, or lame sickness, suggests that it is due to a special plant poison that is generated under abnormal conditions in grasses or other plants that are normally harmless. Its development seems to be associated with unusual weather and soil experiences of which summer drought is important. Through such conditions, winter would favor the formation of the poison, and this explains the common belief that the disease results from eating wilted plants.

Rose to Fame Unaided.
On the 23rd of October in 1825, Piny Fisk, a zealous American missionary, died at Beyrout in Syria. Born in extreme poverty, Fisk managed to educate himself by his own labors. He was a remarkable linguist and preached in Italian, French, modern Greek, and Arabic. For two years, while he was working to get his education, Fisk subsisted entirely on bread and milk.

GOOD WORK WITH CAMERA

Explorers in Northwestern Canada Have Photographic Studies of Wilderness Wild Life.

After a three years' hunt with the camera in the almost unknown Laird river district in northwestern Canada, H. A. Stewart and John Sannickson have come back to civilization by way of Peace river, Alberta, bringing several thousand photographic studies of the manners and customs of the wild life of these remote woods and streams. The explorers, for they well deserve the name, worked into the wilderness by way of Hindem's Hope and the forks of the Findlay and Farquhar rivers as far as Fort Graham. Their negatives illustrate the habits of the porcupine, moose, bear, Canadian wild geese and other animals and birds that have seldom been observed with anything like thoroughness by means of the camera. The travelers had desires of various sorts whereby their subjects were enticed to spots upon which the hidden lenses were focused; and upon reaching these spots an unobtrusive camera man "snapped" them by touching a long cord attached to the lens shutter. A single negative of some especially significant scene was often the only fruit of many hours of patient waiting. Sometimes for days the explorers would watch a single spot through their field glasses awaiting the favorable moment to "shoot." But it was all worth it.

Gleaning the Stumps.
The rapid decrease in the number of tall stumps which have been so familiar to the traveler through the coast hills of Oregon, is regarded as an indication of their approaching extinction. Hitherto some 20 feet of each stump has been left standing, silent relics of former monarchs of the forest. But now the need for timber is greater and men no longer climb high up on to boards thrust into notches in the trunk to cut the saw and the saw they cut low down lest good lumber be needlessly wasted. Only as a record of past wastefulness are the tall stumps with their deep notches still visible.

A Filipino Vassar.
What the accidental ideals of universal opportunities of education are to mean to women of the Orient takes on a large significance with the establishment in the Philippines of a university for girls only. This university is to be part of an educational group called Centro Escolar de Seoritas, girls have been only in the primary, secondary and intermediate grades.

Iron Pipe Makes Good Sprinkler.
Somebody attached to the Army Seco Library and playground in Los Angeles had a bright idea. In order to sprinkle the rose hedges and vines in the grounds with little trouble, a three-fourth-inch pipe was perforated at intervals and placed on top of the fence. The pipe was then given water connection; and now, when the water is turned on, the entire hedge and border of flowers is sprinkled. Another length of perforated pipe takes care of the library terrace—Popular Science Monthly.

Bryant's Writings.
Bryant's writings transport us into the depths of the solemn, grand forest, to the shores of the lonely lake, to the banks of the wild, wooded stream, or the brow of the rocky hill, and rising like a premonitory cry amidst a wide ocean of foliage, while they shed around us the glories of climate force in its extremes, splendid in its vicissitudes—Irish
